About Us

SleeveCo, a Fort Dearborn Company, is a manufacturer of shrink and stretch sleeve labels, based outside of Atlanta in Dawsonville, GA. We're completely dedicated to sleeve labels and have remained a key player in our industry through our work with some of the world's largest and most innovative consumer goods marketers. We work with Fortune 100 companies, family-owned operations, and all sizes in between.

Graphics & Prepress

SleeveCo has an in-house all digital prepress department that has the equipment, experience and expertise to transition your label from design to print. By having both pre-press and printing done in-house, we are able to ensure constant communication between departments. This helps us set up and adjust your files for optimum print quality with minimum impact on timelines. Our ultimate goal is that the final printed piece fulfills your vision and will make your product stand out.

Customer Service

It is our belief that quality and customer satisfaction are the personal responsibility of every SleeveCo team member. We know that future business depends on the happiness of the customer with every order. That is why we employ a knowledgeable, experienced and dedicated team at SleeveCo. We are the best in the industry because we provide the best service from conception to production of your project, along with full service support for all application equipment. It is our commitment to you.
